PREPARING FOR JOINING A WEDDING PARTY

While preparing oneself for joining the party, one has to be extra cautious. One spares no effort to be in one's best. I, too, spend extra time when I prepare myself for joining a wedding party. First comes the question of the selection of dress. I put on my best dress. Then I sit before the dressing table for the necessary makeup. It takes sometimes over one hour. After all, making oneself look more attractive than one's usual self is not an easy task. When I leave the dressing table, I am fully satisfied that I shall be the most handsome person at the wedding party. On reaching the place, I discovered, to my disappointment, that I look just an ordinary man. I find so many people better dressed than me. But I always remain satisfied with my own dress as it gives me a lot of contentment and comfort.
