PRICE HIKE OF ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES

The price hike has become a great threat to our survival. Now a single day passes even we do not hear about an increase in the price of different commodities. Most often the items remain under the black market and the supply comes to a halt. The hoarders thereby earn a big booty. The petty vegetables like potatoes, tomatoes, brinjals, and onions, etc. become dear even during the season days. The wage-earners and the domestic ladies find it much hard to afford two times a meal. The availability of pulses too become a thing of anxiety. One can realize the trouble of a poor man to make both ends meet. Even the most essential food items like wheat and rice are not available in the ration shops. Even a cup of tea becomes dear to take. In the present scenario, one cannot afford to lead a smooth life. He has to pass his time in drudgery. However hard and more he may work, but control the hoarders and the price line. The powerful men on their seats do not care for the common man but they suck the blood of the poor and enjoy upon it.
