Essay on 'The Tailor'

A tailor sews clothes. He is found in every village and town. No civilized person can do without him. He is a very important member of our society. He earns his living by working hard. He knows no holiday.

A tailor's shop is generally seen in the main bazaar. It has a glass almirah. It exhibits new coats, pants, suits, and blouses, etc.

A tailor has many tools. They are a pair of scissors, a sewing machine a measuring tape a sharp needle a thimble on his middle finger. Some thread reels and balls, and an iron press.

The tailor's work is very hard. It requires complete mastery of the art. His success and efficiency go together. A high-class tailor does his work with excellence. He takes the measurement very carefully. He notes them in his register. Then he marks the piece of cloth with a piece of chalk. He then cuts the cloth into pieces to the measurements. Then he sews them together and makes the required cloth. He then irons it and puts it in a showcase. The changes have gone high.

Thus, a tailor is very important in our life. He makes different kinds of suits for us. he earns his living by working hard whole of the day.
