Subject: Utilizing the youth in removing poverty from India

Sir,

Through the column of your esteemed newspaper, I want to highlight the facts that the energy of youth can be better utilized in removing poverty from India. All know that our youths are more equipped with knowledge and information than their ancestors. They have the courage to take adventurous activities since they possess vitality, stamina, strength, courage as well as enthusiasm. Instead of wasting their potential the services of present-day youth can be better channelized by starting new establishments and thereby providing employment. This will remove poverty from India. spite of so many educational institutions, we have a large number of lessons in cleanliness and keeping their environment safe so that they can lead a healthy as well as wealthy life. In the case of natural calamities, they should work as self volunteers to save and guide the people because India will have the impact of floods, droughts, earthquakes, and fire in one or the other corners. It is well known that if the nation is educated and well informed this poverty does not stay there. The youth can utilize the natural resources to establish factories and undertake new enterprises. This will provide the country with the least mention of poverty.

I hope that any view will find a suitable place and the nation will be happy and prosperous as well as free from poverty.

Yours faithfully,
Saurabh/ Surabhi
