

Descriptive Essay on Beach

An explanatory essay on the beach is one of the things you can be asked to bring to your English lessons. It is about providing a clear picture of your encounter at the beach. We explained the need for students to paint a picture of something in the mind of students. The primary purpose is to make the audience feel involved in what happened.

This type of writing will encourage you to test your language skills and imagination. Success is achieved when your audience aligns with your words. It would help if you had 'bright thoughts' and 'moving words' to make this happen.

If you want to write a descriptive essay about the beach, consider some things. This article will discuss some details, the importance, and many attractions of the beach.

Beginning

The beach is where we go whenever we always feel calm and relaxed and forget about all the sounds of life and have fun. As always, my last visit there was a memorable one. I was already wearing my beach clothes, and a frame appeared across the ocean and flooded with my spirit. The sun separated its path from the clouds of cumulus scattered as if it were fleeing from the light. As I breathed in the fresh air, my nose was bothered by the smell of the salty sea. The coral mines formed a sandy beach with numerous colorful seashells. The bedsheet, however, made sand at the same time. Like my previous visit, this trip promised to be filled with great joy and relaxation.

The way the beach sand flowed at my feet and tickled my toes made my heart beat like an orchestra drum. This feeling was compassionate when given that the grains of sand were so beautiful it was hard to see with the naked eye. The sea waves on the beach soften me with a harmonious lullaby and bring me closer to them as I remember my childhood. It was as if they were giving me an invitation with open arms. However, my feet would not force this time because they were exposed to icy waves. So, I just sat down with my head held high in the sky as I watched the sun stretch and enter the atmosphere.

The warm rays of the sun slowly illuminated as the minutes passed, reaching for me and giving me a glowing glow as if to say, "Hey, hold my hand!". As it made its way up in the sky, the sun spread its light across everything it could place. The birds in the sky try to capture themselves by singing beautiful songs with high winds in my ears. From the sun's rays, the sky turned a bright blue color from one black indigo. Scattered cloudless clouds initially blocked out the sun's rays and melted them into thin air, and provided a way for the water to heat up.

I strolled toward the edge of the beach and dipped my toe in the warm water. I removed it as soon as it sounded like it was melting into the sea even though it was numb before. The stench from rotten algae filled the air, and my acidic stomach responded by turning to its side. I could hear the sounds of fish that might have been demanded underwater. I knew at the same time that the fish were afraid of the sea creatures that were hungry and hungry for the little water creatures for lunch. This was a survival strategy, I would say.

As evening falls, people flock to the beach to enjoy peace and tranquility. The children ran up and down as laughter filled every corner of the ocean, and people even played beach ball and volleyball. The day was finally drawing to a close, and one by one, the people began to stroll after what had been a happy day. Unfortunately, even though I wanted to stay on the beach and continue my memorable experience, my opportunity to go home finally came. I left with a heart full of joy and peace and a tired body and promised myself that I would return there as many times as I could.

So, friends, this was a little explanation about the beach. Everything that you will feel whenever you visit the beach. Every moment I had thought of this visit, I mentioned it to you all. I hope you also love this as much as I love sharing it all with you.
